Mike Schatzabel to Provide Websphere Portlet Factory Consulting Services

KENNEBUNK, ME. May 2008 — Davalen, LLC is pleased to announce that Mike Schatzabel has been hired as a senior consultant in Davalen's thriving Websphere Portlet Factory Practice. Schatzabel brings eight years of experience as a software engineer on IBM/Bowstreet's DPW Quality Engineering Team. His extensive product knowledge will solidify Davalen's position as the leader in IBM Websphere Portlet Factory consulting and education.

"Davalen's Portlet Factory Practice is growing very rapidly," explains Davalen's Managing Partner Len Barker, "and with the addition of Mike, we strengthen the core product knowledge we need to continue to provide innovative solutions to the marketplace."

After working in several different areas within the IT industry including development, QA, Customer/Field Support and Configuration Management, Schatzabel is looking forward to joining the Davalen team. "I'm very excited to join Davalen," explained Schatzabel. "Davalen is the leader in delivering Websphere Portlet Factory solutions, and I look forward to contributing to our growth and success in this space."

Schatzabel and Portlet Factory Manager, Michael Witherspoon, believe that the skills and talent Schatzabel possesses will extend the reach of Davalen's Websphere consulting practice significantly. "Mike brings great value to the Portlet Factory Team" explains Witherspoon. "He knows Portlet Factory inside and out since he has been a developer building the product for over eight years. Besides being a valuable technical resource, Schatzy is a great guy with a big smile and a vibrant sense of humor."
